NOTE OF THANKS

Dear Partners of UNCDF,

To help LDCs march towards graduation with inclusion, we must change the status quo. We need to be experimenting more, creating demonstration effects, taking risks, and getting all stakeholders – public and private – to make finance work for those being left behind. We cannot accept as some iron law of nature that certain countries or populations or market segments are destined to lack the tools and resource options they need to build a better future.

That is why, across the world, UNCDF is working to change the dynamics of how finance is allocated. We are showing each day—through practical solutions and innovative approaches—how finance can be made to work for poor households, underserved local governments, and small businesses. This provides the proof of concept that public and private stakeholders need to replicate and scale up what works.

The results we have achieved over the last year are positioning us to take our work to the next level—through more strategic and robust deployment of our financial instruments, new partnerships, and new technologies to connect finance to the real economy, where women and men put it to work to improve their lives and livelihoods.

UNCDF is funded entirely by voluntary contributions from public and private sources. A regular resource base is essential for us to remain at the leading edge of financial innovation, and to ensure a strategic country presence in the maximum number of LDCs. Earmarked funding for a particular region, project, or area of development helps us get programmes up and running and delivering results. Through our LDC Investment Fund, we are looking to mobilize additional resources that we can deploy in the form of loans and guarantees to get early stage and small businesses or microfinance institutions growing. Increasingly we are also looking to use our financial instruments to share risks in ways that leverage domestic and international finance into impactful projects that would otherwise go unfunded.

All of us at UNCDF are enormously grateful to our funding and implementing partners. I thank our LDC partner governments; those donors who stand with us as champions and provide us with our core resources; and those who fund thematic and country interventions.

Thanks to our partners' generous support, we are achieving important results. Between 2014 and 2017, for instance, we supported over 800 local governments to utilize localized finance transparently and accountably, and completed nearly 5,000 localized investments across 23 countries. We also piloted 161 new pro-poor financial products and supported financial service providers in reaching 18 million clients to use digital payments to access basic services and engage more fully in their local economies. Many of these interventions created demonstration effects that have since been replicated commercially or scaled up by governments or multilateral development banks.

The resources entrusted to us help us get more and better resources flowing to where they are needed most. As the clock ticks down to 2030, getting the finance piece of the equation right is essential for LDCs to meet the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). We thank all our partners for investing in us, for learning with us, and for working with us to make that happen.

Executive Secretary

FUNDING ARCHITECTURE

UNCDF has a four-window funding architecture to drive its innovation-to-scale approach and make maximum use of its technical assistance and block grants, loans, and guarantees.

01. REGULAR RESOURCES

Regular resources are the bedrock of UNCDF's business model, providing the technical expertise as well as the flexible risk capital to innovate, pilot, and start achieving leverage. UNCDF Executive Board has agreed to a target for core funding of US$25 million per year to ensure programme operations in 40 LDCs. Right now, UNCDF's core resource envelope falls far short of that target, reaching $12.6 million in 2017.

UNCDF core funding

02. FLEXIBLE NON-CORE: LAST MILE FINANCE TRUST FUND

Flexible non-core resources allow UNCDF to meet new demand or to drive new innovation space in the LDCs where UNCDF is not already present or where investors are most risk averse, such as in crisis-affected settings. The Last Mile FinanceTrust Fund accepts such resources and is structured around five thematic windows (Green Economy, Food Security and Nutrition, Economic Empowerment of Women and Youth, Infrastructure and Services and Financial Inclusion and Innovations) and one country expansion window.

THE LAST MILE FINANCE TRUST FUND is structured around

5 thematic windows

03. EARMARKED NON-CORE

Earmarked non-core resources help UNCDF build robust and meaningful programmes at country and multi-country levels, create meaningful scale to achieve demonstration effect across different countries and local settings; influence policy and regulatory environments; and crowd in other interested partners.

CREATING MEANINGFUL SCALE TO ACHIEVE DEMONSTRATION EFFECT

04. LDC INVESTMENT PLATFORM

The LDC Investment Platform provides transaction advisory and risk management support to allow UNCDF to build investible pipelines, deploy catalytic capital, and demonstrate business model viability across varied sectors to achieve last mile development objectives. Under an ideal resource scenario, UNCDF could potentially support hundreds of investible projects over the next four years.

UNCDF has already identified

50 catalytic projects

to feed into this investment pipeline over the next

THE VALUE OF REGULAR RESOURCES

In 2017, core resources continued to play a pivotal role in helping UNCDF reach the most excluded households and small businesses worldwide.

A core resource base that is right-sized and fit for purpose is essential for UNCDF to achieve significants results, maintain its recognized position within its substantive peer networks, assure country presence in the maximum number of LDCs, and stay at the forefront of last mile finance innovations.

Core resources also offer high leverage by catalyzing additional resources from domestic and other resources. For each $1 spent in regular resources, UNCDF is able to leverage about $10 into local economies.

REGULAR RESOURCES TREND

The regular resources trend shows a progressive reduction between 2014 and 2017 and this remains a key challenge for UNCDF. However, the demand for UNCDF's services from the least developed countries continues to grow.

Regular Resources Trend, 2012-2017

(Including UNDP biennial support budget and programme support. All amounts expressed in United States dollars)

The trend in core funding over the past years has resulted in the closure of 14 country programmes in local development finance and 8 country programmes in financial inclusion since 2014. Overall, UNCDF country presence in LDCs has decreased from 37 countries in 2012 to 29 countries in 2017 and is at risk of declining further.

RESOURCES BY PARTNER CATEGORY

UNCDF works with a wide range of funding partners — Member States, multilateral donors, private sector actors, foundations, non-governmental organizations — and is deeply grateful to all those who champion UNCDF's work by contributing to regular resources, fund thematic and country initiatives that allow UNCDF to test new ideas, and support UNCDF to adapt the best lessons learned and apply them for greatest impact.

Resources by Partner Category, 2017

(Including UNDP biennial support budget and programme support. All amounts expressed in United States dollars)

UNCDF has made significant progress in mobilizing other (non-core) resources from private sector and non-governmental partners despite the reduction in its core resources. In addition, UNCDF continues to leverage significant amounts of additional public and private resources to consolidate, replicate, and scale up what works.

WHAT PARTNERS SAY ABOUT US

UNCDF is an important United Nations agency that supports the Government of Benin's efforts in the realization of its 2016-2021 action plan, particularly with regard to the development of local communities, through structuring projects that have a positive impact on grassroots populations.

Permanent Mission of Benin to the United Nations

2018 Annual Session of the Executive Board

The UNCDF Strategic Framework [...] highlights UNCDF's critical role to make finance work for the poor and to get finance flowing to where it is needed most. I see great additionality in UNCDF's programmatic and early investor work. As UNDP and the wider UN system accelerate support to LDCs and MICs to optimize public and private investment for SDG achievement, UNCDF's ability to deploy a range of financial instruments to de-risk and prove concept has considerable system-wide applicability. UNCDF's LDC investment platform is a vehicle ready for take-off, with existing capacity to direct investment to the most excluded people, businesses, and localities, thereby creating impact across a range of SDGs.

Achim Steiner

UNDP Administrator

Sweden appreciates UNCDF as a flexible and agile organization that can have a catalytic effect on investment for development. We know from experience that UNCDF can significantly leverage relatively small contributions. UNCDF's innovative business model and creative approach pave the way for sustainable investments and leveraging of public and private resources in support of national development priorities.

H.E. Ms. Isabella Lövin

Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for International Development Cooperation and Climate, Sweden

We commend UNCDF's continuous stride for reaching the "last mile" with its inclusive and innovative financing solutions. We believe that UNCDF's focus on crowding in resources and de-risking portfolios for LDCs are contributing positively towards building a coherent, sustainable and diversified financing framework for leveraging the implementation of the 2030 agenda in these most vulnerable countries.

Permanent Mission of Bangladesh to the United Nations

2018 Annual Session of the Executive Board

UNCDF is making lives better in some of the most challenging regions of the world. We are proud to partner with them to create innovative publicprivate financing solutions and ensure that no country is left behind.

John Morris

Founding Partner, 17 Asset Management USA

The United Nations Capital Development Fund is an example of what we want in a new UN, focused and impactful, and bringing into play all of the potential partners in development, including other UN agencies and donors as well as the private sector, civil society and national and local governments.

Kemy Monahan

Director for Economic & Development Affairs Bureau of International Organizations, U.S. Department of State

LOOKING FORWARD

With predictable funding and the right mix of resources, UNCDF can be a more catalytic and strategic partner to UNDP and the wider UN development system in testing innovative finance approaches.

The below graph shows the ideal income scenario that would ensure the full implementation of its Strategic Framework, in which UNCDF would have annually $25 million core, $75 million non-core, and a $50 million LDCs Investment Fund. Under this scenario, UNCDF could be present in up to 40 LDCs.

ABOUT UNCDF

The UN Capital Development Fund makes public and private finance work for the poor in the world's 47 least developed countries (LDCs).

With its capital mandate and instruments, UNCDF offers "last mile" finance models that unlock public and private resources, especially at the domestic level, to reduce poverty and support local economic development. UNCDF's financing models work through two channels: financial inclusion that expands the opportunities for individuals, households, and small businesses to participate in the local economy, providing them with the tools they need to climb out of poverty and manage their financial lives; and by showing how localized investments—through fiscal decentralization, innovative municipal finance, and structured project finance—can drive public and private funding that underpins local economic expansion and sustainable development.

By strengthening how finance works for poor people at the household, small enterprise, and local infrastructure levels, UNCDF contributes to SDG 1 on eradicating poverty and SDG 17 on the means of implementation. By identifying those market segments where innovative financing models can have transformational impact in helping to reach the last mile and address exclusion and inequalities of access, UNCDF contributes to a number of different SDGs.
